The Warwickshire Archæological Society, with a praiseworthy anxiety for the preservation of the ecclesiastical antiquities of the county, have issued a circular directing attention to the state of the chancel of Wappenbury Church. By the accidental fall of the ceiling, it has been discovered that the timbers of the roof of the chancel (which is of the date of the thirteenth century, and one of the most beautiful specimens of the early English style in the neighbourhood) are in so dilapidated a state, as to render substantial repairs necessary.

MEETINGS OF SCIENTIFIC BODIES

Held during the ensuing week.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 26.—Institution of Civil Engineers, 8 P.M.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 1.—Society of Arts, 8 P.M.

THURSDAY, 2.—Royal Society, 8½ P.M.; Society of Antiquaries, 8 P.M.

FRIDAY, 3.—Archæological Institute, 4 P.M.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

"Alcohol as used in Arts."—A correspondent (W. P. D.) deprecates the reduction of the duty as lately urged in our pages, lest drunkenness—that worst of vices—should be encouraged. The object of the paper referred to was to point out how the advantage might be obtained without fear of such a much-to-be-dreaded consequence.

"A Subscriber, at H."—We are unable to advise. The first inquiry would be—have you tried it?

"A. X. B."—The Ordnance are about to supply the desideratum.

"J. C."—We shall be glad to receive such information as may fall in his way.

"Suburban."—A green-house is not excepted from the operations of the Act.

"Mr. M'C."—In what respect does the suggested arrangement differ from Cundy's stove and others?

"R. K."—We have not the address at hand.

"R. G."—The letter was mislaid. Double walls, under the circumstances, would act usefully. Washing porous walls with a solution of soap, and afterwards with a solution of alum, is said to have a good effect.

"W. H. D."—No persons are yet appointed for the purpose. The committee now sitting is a private one.

"T. T."—The arrangement in question is not untried in England. We will endeavour to find room for the communication.

"C. T."—Messrs. Crace, Wigmore-street.

"J. R. H."—Thanks. We will mention the circumstance.

"J. B." (Reading).—Herbert's "Guide" will be found useful. The second work is but just now commenced, in parts.

Received.—"G. R. M.," "J. H." (Bayswater), "W. D.," "J. R." (shall be looked to), "N. J.," "Delta" (Leeds), "W. R.," "R. R.," "J. L." (thanks), "Herbiah Polehead" ("a cute fellow, very"), "Stango," "W. L." (Belfast: a notice of the bridge appeared in THE BUILDER), "D. G. L." (shall be looked to), "G. B." "E. P." (thanks), "J. P." (thanks), "J. S."

Books received.—"Ancient and Modern Art, Historical and Critical;" by George Gleghorn, Esq. Second edition. 2 vols. (Blackwood and Sons, 1848.) "Indian Railways and their probable Results;" by an old Indian Postmaster. Third edition. (Newby.)

"Books, Prices, and Addresses."—We have not time to point out books or find addresses.
